May Build Plant Here for Gear Shift Device

Utah can lay claim to the distinction of being the birthplace of another invention which is expected to be universally used on automobiles and motor trucks and which will probably be manufactured in Ogden or Salt Lake in great quantities. The new invention is the result of years of work of A. V. Olson of Salt Lake, veteran automobile man, and is a device that is guaranteed to eliminate all trouble resulting from the shifting of gears and the intense strain that is placed upon motor car differentials through careless starting and driving. It is declared that with the device, which is extremely simple, a driver will be unable to strip gears and no hardships can be thrust upon the rear end assembly of an automobile or truck.

The device is a simple tube which contains oil and comes the clutch action so that no jerk or strain can be placed on the transmission gears or differential gears. Its value increases when used upon motor trucks with heavy loads and when, in starting, a terrific strain is placed upon the rear assembly. This strain becomes even greater where employed drivers who are not careful in starting, start their heavy loads with a sudden jerk. In many cases the differential gears are torn completely out and a big expense follows in addition to the inconvenience that follows the truck having to be tied up in the repair shop.

The device can be installed within a few moments and at a very small cost, by attaching a bracket to the frame of the car and coupling the plunger to the clutch pedal. It will fit any car or truck manufactured.

That Ogden may be decided upon for a factory site was made clear by Mr. Olson yesterday. The first of the devices turned out were made under his direction in Ogden in the Ogden Iron Works company plant. He declared that Ogden was being considered as the location for the western plant and that it was probable that a factory would be installed here during the coming winter.

Slaterville Trims Eden Team at Lagoon

In a one-sided exhibition of the national game Slaterville defeated Eden at Lagoon Friday, the score being 25 to 16. The bases were used to great advantage during the game, according to members of the winning club, the runs coming so often that it was necessary to use a hose to keep the sacks from catching fire.

Bithell and Holley constituted the battery for the winners, while Ferrin and Burnett performed for the losers. A large crowd attended the game. Irvin Perry by winning the feature man's race was awarded a steel fishing rod. Miss Rosella Wheeler won the ladies prize, a pair of tennis shoes, winning the ladies' feature.

ALKALI IS BIG FARM PROBLEM

Menacing Western Agriculture,
Says Utahn, Just Back
From Conference

Alkali is recognized as one of the biggest problems which western agriculture faces today, according to Dr. F. S. Harris, director of the Utah experiment station, and president of the American Society of Agronomy, who just returned from Berkeley, Cal., where he attended the conference of western agronomists.

"The problem receiving most attention at the conference was soil alkali," says Dr. Harris. "It was recognized that in the western United States many of the soils are affected with an excess of soluble salts. This condition is especially acute in regions where excessive irrigation is practiced and where a rising water-table results from poor drainage. Many lands that were formerly fertile are rapidly being ruined. Proper methods of irrigation and the reduction of evaporation of moisture from the soil were recognized as the chief means of preventing alkali from rising, while drainage of the land is the only real way to remove alkali if it once becomes troublesome."

There are many problems connected with alkali, according to Dr. Harris, which have not yet been solved. The Utah station has some of the best and most extensive work on the subject. A number of experiments will soon be under way in the station's research laboratories in the new plant industry building recently completed at the Utah Agricultural college. This work will be under the direction of Dr. Harris, assisted by Mr. M. D. Thomas, and Mr. D. W. Pittman, who has assisted in many of the previous alkali experiments conducted by the Utah station.

Mike O'Dowd Here En Route to North

Mike O'Dowd, former world's middleweight boxing champion, was an Ogden visitor today for a short time en route to Portland where he has one more engagement before clashing with Gordon McKay for the world title. O'Dowd was accompanied by two trainers and a sparring partner and stated that he was in the best of condition. He expects a hard contest with McKay when the two clash on July 5. O'Dowd was questioned as to the class of the middleweight champion, Johnny Wilson, who recently won the title from O'Dowd.

In answer he said: "Wilson defeated me on the square and the best that I can hope for now is a return match with the present title holder. I am confident that I can defeat the Boston star quick in a return match."

The Huguenots introduced manufacture of velvet into England.

Former Forestry Man Visiting in Ogden

Vernon Metcalf, formerly assistant district forester in this city, who is now connected with the Nevada Livestock association, arrived in Ogden yesterday to visit at the forest service headquarters where he was formerly located. He stated that range conditions in Nevada were excellent, although ranges in the lower lands were drying up considerably.

Losses sustained through the winter by stockmen were severe, he said, but with prospects good for a splendid season, the majority of the stockmen will make good, to some extent, their losses of the past winter.

Genealogical Work Will Be Discussed

SET CASES FOR DISTRICT COURT

Three Actions to Be Heard Before
Judge Pratt During Week

Three cases are scheduled in Judge A. E. Pratt's division of the district court during the coming week in addition to probate law and motions to be heard Monday and the setting of cases for the July term Friday. No Sessions were held today as court was adjourned yesterday afternoon until Monday.

Tuesday morning the case of N. O. Ogden against Peter Hirigaray is scheduled for hearing. In his complaint Mr. Ogden alleges that sheep belonging to Hirigaray were allowed to stray upon his wheat fields in Davis county and his crops were ruined. He stated the damage took place in May of last year. Mr. Ogden asks the court for damages of $500 together with interest and court costs.

Asks Accounting

Accounting and division of profits alleged to have been made in a partnership is asked by A. J. Paulson in his suit, against his former business partner, Fred W. Chambers, which will come up for hearing Wednesday. In his complaint Mr. Paulson sets forth that on February 5, 1918 he engaged in a business partnership with Mr. Chambers for the sale of commercial stocks and securities.

Mr. Paulson complains that on January 13, 1919, the partnership was dissolved, but the defendant kept all the records and received the profits which totaled more than $16,411.43. He stated that his partner paid him $6,160.75, but still holds more than $4,090.12 of the partnership funds and one automobile.

Mr. Paulson, according to the complaint, has often demanded settlement, but the defendant has refused and still refuses to make a full statement or to divide the partnership funds or property.

The plaintiff prays the court that the defendant be required to make a true statement and that judgment be given him for one-half of the amount found in the statement.

The final case of the week is the suit of Lottie M. Stephens against William Jenkins, Joseph Jenkins and Ernest Kammeyer. Mrs. Stephens alleges that for years she has owned farm lands in township 5, north range 1 west in Weber county and that on October 1, 1918 the defendants entered the land, tore down the fences and ejected her from the property. She claims the defendants still continue to hold the land without title. She asks for possession of her property and damages of $100.

Romonoff Here; Wants to Meet Harberston

Challenges galore have been pouring into Ogden from all sections of the United States to Jack Harberston, local mat star, but thus far Jack has failed to answer any of the likely contenders.

K. O. Romonoff was the latest challenger. Romonoff is a wrestler of considerable experience and is known as the man with a thousand holds. He has just returned from the east where he engaged in several matches and reports that the game is attracting throngs to summer resorts in the middlewest.

Such men as Bull Montana, Jack Taylor, Ira Dern, Mike Yokel and many others have challenged the local man to a finish match, but it is probable that plans will be delayed now until the fall season.
